

Striving to be a bridge in our community & world

Bridges are all about connecting, not dividing. At New Covenant Fellowship, the bridge has become a meaningful symbol, because it's another way to think about a covenant—it represents how hard God works to bridge the chasms in our lives and our world.

When those chasms are bridged—between young and old, conservative and liberal, people who live in big homes and those who are homeless, those who were raised in the church and those who are new to the faith—this world begins to look and function a bit more like God intended.

We hope you'll visit—join us in worship at 10:30 on Sunday mornings, ask questions, experience God's grace, grapple with what the Bible teaches us, and work with us to bring more of God's mercy and justice to our world.

As a community of believers, we strive to be:

- Biblical
- Relational
- Intergenerational
- Doing justice
- Giving freely
- Embracing diversity
